Abram Collard, DO

Dr. Collard has been a pediatrician for more than 10 years and served in the United States Air Force prior to becoming a physician. For him, the best part of being a pediatrician is having the opportunity to build relationships with families. He makes it a priority to help each patient and their parents feel comfortable and confident in the care they receive. He lives in South County with his wife and five children and enjoys saltwater fishing and home improvement projects when not at work. He is also a physician for the Narragansett school system.

Megan Moore, PNP

Meghan Moore grew up in South County and has been working as a pediatric provider for nearly 20 years. She joined Thundermist in early 2024. She is fluent in medical Spanish and has extensive experience caring for newborns and young children. She and her two boys live in South County, and when she's not caring for patients, she plays soccer and is an avid hiker.

Noah Lupica, MD

Dr. Lupica has lived in Rhode Island for 12 years. Before joining Thundermist in summer 2024 he worked at Hasbro Children's Hospital. He takes pride in getting to know his patients and their families, and values seeing kids grow into their own while understanding why it's important to take care of their health over time. One of his many areas of interest as a provider is adolescent behavioral health.
